LAW OF CONVEYANCING/PROPRIETARY RIGHTS AND TRANSACTIONS

Conveyancing is the posh word for all the legal stuff that goes on when you buy or sell a residential or commercial property. Up until 1985, you had to go to a solicitor to prepare all the paperwork for you. The Government then allowed a new profession, licensed conveyancers, to also perform the service.

Conveyancing explained - Conveyancing - Law Plain and Simple

In law, conveyancing is the transfer of legal title of real property from one person to another, or the granting of an encumbrance such as a mortgage or a lien. A typical conveyancing transaction has two major phases: the exchange of contracts and completion. The sale of land is governed by the laws and practices of the jurisdiction in which the land is located. It is a legal requirement in all jurisdictions that contracts for the sale of land be in writing. An exchange of contracts involves two
